Relics of Dead President Borne From Buffalo to the Capital.

STATELY AND SOLEMN SPECTACLE

In Sorrow Friends Follow the Corpse From the City Where Less Than a Fortnight Ago McKinley Was Received With Honors of State.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—The silent form of William McKinley was borne from this city in impressive state Monday morning and taken on its last journey to the national capitol. Just 11 days ago he was received with an enthusiasm that was unprecedented in the annals of the city and for 24 hours enjoyed himself thoroughly. The story of the foul assassination, of the patriotic stride to recovery, as outwardly demonstrated, while death was slowly working on the vitals, the breathless hopes of a nation and loved ones, the terrible 24 hours of suspense when death made its final demand against the human skill, all are matters of history.

The statesman who but 24 hours before had outlined his future policy to an assemblage at the Pan-American, the distinguished guest of a great city was taken out in silent splendor, his career ended so far as his dominant personality is concerned.

Thousands upon thousands watched the impressive procession moving towards the depot. It was doubly impressive because of its lack of gorgeousness and because of the fact that closely behind the pall of the dead president followed the successor to the title and living change in the country's history.

At the Milburn home, where the family of the dead statesman slept; at the Wilcox home, where the new president reposed; down near the city hall, where the silent form of the former president lay, guards were formed early and the streets kept clear of people.

Mrs. McKinley was not awakened until after 7 o'clock, when Dr. Rixey went to the room with one of the attendants. She had not slept well despite the fact that she was almost thoroughly exhausted and that Dr. Rixey had given her a sleeping potion. The first thing she asked was a repetition of the query of the last two days, "When can I see the major?" Dr. Rixey told her that they were going to let her see him during the day. She then let her attendants dress her and soon she was ready for a light breakfast which she took in her room alone.

None of the family went to the city hall where the body lay, but all went directly to the train. This was done on Mrs. McKinley's account. At 7:30 the Misses Duncan, nieces of the late president, were driven to the train so that they might arrange all comforts possible for the stricken widow. A few minutes later, Senator Fairbanks, Comptroller of Currency Dawes and Elmer Dover, secretary to Senator Hanna, emerged from the house and entered a carriage.

At 7:35 several figures stepped silently out upon the porch and walked down towards the carriages. Mrs. McKinley robed in a garb of mourning and supported by Abner McKinley on one side and Dr. Rixey on the other, was the central figure. To the surprise of all she walked briskly and quite erect, her face hidden behind her long black veil. She got into the carriage with her favorite niece, Miss Barber, Abner McKinley and Dr. Rixey and they were driven at once to the depot. So far as could be seen, she sat erect and unsupported in the carriage. The family of Abner McKinley, other relatives of the dead president and Secretary Cortelyou followed in other carriages and the Milburn house, famous now because of its connection with a great national tragedy, went back into the possession of its owner who had so kindly given it up to the use of the president and his family.

President Roosevelt did not arise until 7 o'clock. He dressed quickly and at 7:30 was ready for breakfast. He breakfasted with the family of his host, Ansley Wilcox. Just after 8 o'clock, together with Mr. Wilcox and his secretary, William Loeh, Jr., he got into a carriage and drove to the train. A few mounted police followed the carriage and three or four detectives and secret service men were near by. Otherwise there was nothing to distinguish the president from any other citizen.

The slow and stately progress of the president's body from the city hall to the railroad station afforded the people of Buffalo a last opportunity to do honor to the memory of the late lamented executive.

Soon after 7 o'clock there came signs of life from within the corridor, where the body of the president reposed. The doors were flung open; the gate swung ajar and at 7:07 o'clock 40 sailors from the United States steamship Michigan swung up Franklin street, the first detachment of the escort. Four minutes later the four horse hearse drew up and a company of marines filed into position. Five of the cabinet officers arrived in two carriages. In the first were Secretary Long and Postmaster General Smith. In the other were Attorney General Knox, Secretary Wilson and Secretary Hitchcock.

United States Senator Joseph R. Hawley of Connecticut was next to arrive. Exactly at the appointed hour, 7:45, the escort was in readiness.

In clarion tones, Major Mann, commanding the escort, delivered the order "Present arms." Noiselessly and with the precision of the well-drilled soldier, the arms leaped to position, the commanding officer turned about and facing the house of the dead brought his sword to "present." It was an impressive moment. The rigid soldiers and sailors were awaiting the body of their late commander-in-chief. A minute of awe-inspiring silence and then emerging from the doors of the city hall, there moved the eight body-bearers. Four soldiers and four sailors. On their shoulders rested the casket containing the dead president.

Away down the line of soldiery from the Sixty-fifth regiment band came the strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Behind the long ropes the throng uncovered and with bowed heads waited and watched in silence. The flag-draped casket was borne slowly down the stone steps, along the curved approach, to the hearse, lifted into the hearse, and the doors closed. Through the windows of the hearse naught but America's flag surmounted by a single sheaf of wheat could be seen.

To the front came the troops wheeling into line and moving down Franklin street. Once more the strains of music. This time it was Chopin's Funeral March, accompanied by the tolling of the church bells. Behind the troops came the carriages of the members of the cabinet. Then came the hearse and following were comrades of the G. A. R. with a company of local militia bringing up the rear.

As the cortege passed Ellicott street it was met by the carriage containing President Roosevelt. By the president's orders, his carriage was stopped and with bared head, the nation's new executive awaited the passing of his predecessor's funeral procession.

The hearse stopped in front of the baggage entrance to the depot. As the undertaker took hold of the door of the hearse to open it and the soldier bearers prepared to draw the coffin out a hush fell on the multitude. Then from the head of the column came the mournful sound of the "long roll." As it ceased there arose the notes of the beautiful hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee."

The soldiers raised the flag-covered casket on their shoulders and moved toward the train, as the band took up the air of the old hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

On the curb stood President Roosevelt with Senator Hawley. The former had refused the advice of the police to move into the depot yard and with his hat in his hand, he stood silently watching the body being removed. General Brooke and his staff fell in directly behind the casket, then came the president, Secretary Cortelyou and Senator Hawley and then followed Senator Hanna, accompanied by his son.

Mrs. McKinley and other members of the family had entered their car half an hour before the body arrived. The journey to the depot in the carriage from the windows of which she could see the emblems of mourning, affected Mrs. McKinley seriously and when she stepped from the carriage, assisted by Dr. Rixey and Abner McKinley, her limbs failed her and she would have fallen but for the support accorded her. She entered the station and was assisted into the car in which she and the dead president had made the trip into the city of his death. On the car her relatives took charge of her and Dr. Rixey gave her a tonic. Dr. Rixey thinks she will be able to go through with the state ceremonial at Washington, but the change of arrangements so that the body shall leave Washington Tuesday night was made so as to avoid too great a strain. "She will be better in Canton than any place else," said Dr. Rixey.

The train that bore the late president from Buffalo, was a solid Pullman of seven cars drawn by two locomotives. Fifteen minutes before the train was scheduled to leave an engine sped out through the yards with orders to precede the train by 15 minutes and keep the track clear. The train was under the general charge of George W. Boyd, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania. Assistant Trainmaster D. M. Kinney was in direct charge. Conductor John son, who came here in charge of President McKinley's special train from Canton was the Pullman conductor.

Engineer George Woodward was in charge of one engine and Frank Bishop of the other. The train crew was made up of picked men in the Pennsylvania and Pullman companies.

Behind the engines were the drawing room cars Raleigh and Belgrade, both of which were devoted to members of the press. Next came the dining car Waldorf, the car Naples, intended for senators, and the Hungary for President Roosevelt and the cabinet. Next to the rear car was the Olympia, occupied by Mrs. McKinley and last of all was the observation car, Buffalo, in which the body rested.

The casket was placed between the windows on the observation car where it could be seen by the people as the train went by. Crepe was draped from the two locomotives and from the rear of the observation cars and the railings of the car were shrouded in crepe. The only relief was in two tiny pilot flags of white on the leading locomotive. The station was absolutely clear.

President Roosevelt entered the station with Secretary Cortelyou. The salutation. Just before he boarded the train, the president observed H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago. He stepped to his side and placing his hand on Mr. Kohlsaat's shoulder, whispered a few words to him. Shortly after 8:30 it was announced that everything was in readiness and at 8:40 the train pulled slowly out just four minutes later than was scheduled.

The train stopped at Olean, Emporium Junction, Williamsport, Renovo, Scranton, Harrisburg, York and Baltimore, solely for the purpose of changing engines. Many people were assembled at each place.

AT THE CAPITOL.

The music will be furnished by the choir of the Metropolitan church.

RULES FOR TUESDAY.

Order of Arrangements For the State Funeral Ceremonies.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Following is the order of arrangements for the obsequies at Washington in memory of William McKinley, late president of the United States, as revised to meet the wishes of Mrs. McKinley:

The remains of the late president will be escorted from the White House Tuesday at 9 o'clock a. m. to the capitol, where religious services will be held, after which the body of the late president will lie in state in the rotunda the remainder of the day. In the evening the remains will be removed to the station of the Pennsylvania railroad, escorted by a squadron of United States cavalry and then conveyed to their final resting place at Canton, Ohio.

Order For Tuesday.

Section 1: Funeral escort under the command of Major General John R. Brook, United States army; artillery band; squadron of cavalry; battery of field artillery; company A of U. S. engineers; two battalions; coast artillery; hospital corps; Marine band; battalion of marines; battalion of United States seamen; national guard, District of Columbia.

Section 2: Civic procession under command of Chief Marshal General Henry V. Boynton; clergymen in attendance; physicians who attended the late president; military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States; Grand Army of the Republic; guard of honor, pall bearers and hearse; officers of the army, navy and marine corps in this city who are not on duty with the troops forming the escort will form in full dress, right front, on either side of the hearse, the army on the right and the navy's marine corps on the left and compose the guard of honor; family of the late president; relatives of the late president; ex-president of the United States.

Section 3: The president, cabinet, diplomatic corps, chief justice and the assistant justices of the supreme court of the United States, senators and members of the house of representatives; governors of states and territories and commissioners of the District of Columbia; judges of the court of claims, the judiciary of the District of Columbia and judges of the United States courts; assistant secretaries of state, treasury, war, navy interior and agriculture departments and the assistant postmasters general; al; solicitor general and the assistant secretaries general; Chilean claims, civil, industrial, interstate commerce, isthmus canal, joint high, Mexican water boundary, fish and fisheries, special tariff and Philippine commissions and other departments and commissions of the government in the order of their precedence; official representatives of the insular governments; organized societies; citizens.

The troops designated to form the escort will assemble on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, facing the White House, the left resting on eastern entrance to the grounds and in order so that the column is formed to the left the organizations will be in the order before designated. The formation will be completed at 9 a. m. Tuesday. The civic procession will form in accordance with the directions to be given the chief marshal. The officers of the army and navy selected to compose the special guard of honor and such other officers of the army and navy as may be designated will be at the capitol so as to receive the remains on arrival there.

Religious services will be held in the rotunda immediately after the arrival of the remains. During the remainder of the day the body will lie in state in the rotunda and will be escorted to the railroad station in the evening by a squadron of cavalry. While the cortege moves to the railroad station, minute guns will be fired at the navy yard by the vessels of war which may be in port and at Fort Myer, and by a battery of artillery stationed near the capitol for the purpose. At the same hour the bells of the several churches, fire engine houses and of all official houses will be tolled. The firing of the minute guns and the tolling of the bells will continue until the departure of the train from the railroad station at about 8 p. m. The officers of the army and navy selected to compose the special guard of honor to accompany the remains of the late president to the place of final interment at Canton, O., will assemble at the railroad station at 7:30 p. m. to receive the body and accompany it to the car reserved for the purpose.

Other officers of the army, navy and marine corps which attended the body on its arrival Monday evening will reassemble in full dress uniform at the railroad station at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday to pay final honors to their late commander-in-chief.

Government Offices Closed.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Upon receipt of a telegram from Mr. Cortelyou at Buffalo, which presumably reflects the wishes of President Roosevelt, the announcement was made that the executive departments at Washington will be closed Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. This order, however, does not apply to the several treasuries and custom houses in this country and Porto Rico and Hawaii, which will be closed Thursday only. A sufficient number of customs officers to clear incoming and outgoing vessels, however, will be required to remain on duty.

O. N. G. to Attend the Funeral.

Columbus, O., Sept. 16.—Governor Nash as commander-in-chief of the Ohio national guard has issued orders for the entire state forces to assemble at their respective armories Sept. 18 and proceed to Canton, where to be under command of Major Charles W. F. Dick in attendance at the funeral of the late president. The naval brigade is also ordered to attend the funeral. Preparations are going forward at Canton for the care of the troops while there. There are 92 companies in the O. N. G. numbering about 5,000 men.

For Pythians and Elks.

Marlette, O., Sept. 16.—L. F. Ellenwood, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, has issued orders to the lodges of Ohio requesting the adoption at regular meetings of fitting resolutions on the death of McKinley. The late president belongs to Champion lodge of Columbus, O. The Elks will meet in reunion here this week. McKinley was an Elk. In connection with the reunion an Elk carnival is being held here throughout the week. In place of the grand ball Thursday evening a lodge of sorrow has been substituted.

Cleveland Will Attend.

Washington, Sept. 16.—John M. Wilson received a dispatch from former President Cleveland saying he was coming to Washington to attend the funeral ceremonies of the late president. General Wilson has made arrangements for his entertainment while in Washington.

Postoffices to Close Thursday.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Acting Postmaster General Shallenbarger issued the following order: "Out of respect to the memory of our late president all postoffices will be closed Thursday, Sept. 19, after 10 o'clock, a. m."

Mrs. Roosevelt in Washington.

New York, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt left Oyster Bay, L. I., at 7:28 a. m. for Washington, accompanied by her son, Theodore, Jr.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

Roosevelt Will Follow in Footsteps of His Predecessor.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE AT BUFFALO

New Chief Magistrate Announces That He Will Promote the Objects Enounced in McKinley's Pan-American Speech.

Buffalo, Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt has outlined in some detail the policy he will follow during his incumbency of office. It will be remembered that when he took the oath of office he stated with much definiteness: "It shall be my aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace, prosperity and honor of the country."

The new president gathered together some personal friends in Buffalo and those members of the cabinet who were here and gave to them such ideas as he had already formulated for the continuation of public affairs and his own policy. In no sense are they divergent from what has been understood as Mr. McKinley's policy.

This policy as outlined to friends at the conference will be for a more liberal and extensive reciprocity in the purchase and sale of commodities so that the overproduction of this country could be safely disposed of by fair and equitable arrangements with foreign countries. The abolition entirely of commercial war with other countries and the adoption of reciprocity treaties. The abolition of such tariffs on foreign goods as are no longer needed for revenue, if such abolition can be had without harm to our industries and labor. Direct commercial lines should be established between the eastern coast of the United States and the ports in South America and the Pacific coast ports of Mexico, Central America and South America. The encouraging of the merchant marine and the building of ships which carry the American flag and be owned and controlled by Americans and American capital. The building and completion as soon as possible of the isthmus canal so as to give direct water communication with the coasts of Central America, South America and Mexico. The construction of a cable, owned by the government, connecting our main land with foreign possessions, especially Hawaii and Philippines. The use of conciliatory methods of arbitration in all disputes with foreign nations so as to avoid armed strife. The protection of the savings of the people in banks and in other forms of investments by the preservation of the commercial prosperity of the country and the placing in positions of trust men of only the highest integrity.

Herr Most Arraigned.

New York, Sept. 16.—John Most was arraigned in police court charged with having violated section 575 of the penal code in publishing an article tending to disturb the public peace. He told the magistrate he would conduct his own defense. The article in the Freiheit, Most's paper, which constituted the alleged offense, and which was headed "Murder against Murder," was, according to Most, a reprint from a book published 55 years ago, and previously reproduced by him in the Freiheit 15 years ago. He argued that as the number of the Freiheit in which the article last appeared, was not distributed until Friday, Sept. 6, it could not have inspired the assassination of President McKinley. The magistrate adjourned the case until 2 p. m. to give Most a chance to furnish proof of this statement. Most presented a receipt showing the paper was not delivered until 11 a. m. Friday, Sept. 6. Although admitting the article could not have incited the crime at Buffalo the magistrate held Most for trial under $500 bond.

Bishop Whipple Dead.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Bishop Henry Whipple of the Protestant Episcopal church, died at his home in Faribault, Minn. Henry Benjamin Whipple had been bishop of the Episcopal church in Minnesota since 1899. He was born in Adams, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1822. He was ordained in 1850. After the Spanish war Bishop Whipple spent months in Porto Rico in the interest of his church. He was the senior bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church of America.

Wants Roosevelt Killed.

Cleveland, Sept. 16.—Frank Idings, 22, a blacksmith, was arraigned on the charge of suspicion. In a saloon Idings is alleged to have said: "I belong to a society that will give $50,000 to any man who will kill President Roosevelt." At the hearing he did not deny that he had made the statement. He was remanded to jail and will be given another hearing Wednesday. Meantime the police will make every effort to learn all about the prisoner.

ADMIRAL HOWISON's persistency in remaining on the Court of Inquiry after having expressed an opinion contrary to the man to be tried was execrable, to say the least. He made a nice mess of things, and deserves the contempt of all honest men.

MEMBERS OF THE SCHOOL BOARD, —QUALIFICATIONS.

Probably the most important offices to be filled at the coming city election are the vacancies on the School Board. What are the prescribed qualifications for members of this honorable body? Has any citizen or tax-payer ever asked this question, or endeavored to answer it? A recent writer on educational subjects says that it is exceedingly important to obtain on such boards persons of "impartial judicial qualities, high intelligence and liberal education." This is well enough, but these qualifications are not prescribed by the school laws of Kentucky; they are simply assumed to exist. By reading the statutory enactments between the lines, it will be seen that our legislators had, specifically, other objects in view; to wit, honesty and efficiency in scholastic administration. A man may have a judicial temper and a cultured mind, and, yet, weakly connive at the audacities of a scholastic ring. Petty irregularities are regarded by him with a smiling indulgence; great ones are disregarded altogether.

One is struck in reading these school laws with the emphasis that is placed upon publicity. Our law-makers clearly divined that in publicity lies the true corrective. The board shall meet in a "public place;" a correct record of its proceedings shall be kept, and this "shall be a public record;" it shall publish at the end of each scholastic year "a printed statement showing the amount, character and condition of all funds and other property belonging to said schools, etc., etc." Publicity is the note throughout; and the board meetings are open, not only to the public, but to representatives of the public press. It is evident, that, under such peremptory requirements, a gentleman of liberal education would find it somewhat difficult, in matters of public expenditure, to be, also, a gentleman of liberal views. But this is not all. Nothing is to be left to the chance of misconception or neglect. The law-makers, still having honest and efficient administration in view, declare, with almost brutal directness, that "no member of the Board of Education shall be, or become, directly or indirectly, interested in any contract, agreement, or trade [however small] touching the building of school houses, repairing of school property, or use his official position to secure the patronage of the teachers or employees of the school."

The meaning of all this is perfectly plain. No quibble or equivocation can affect the point or purpose of the prohibitions here imposed. No man must take a seat upon the School Board with the view of working the position for his personal profit. These remarks apply with equal force to the purchase of text-books and ordinary supplies. Where so much is at stake, nothing is too small to be overlooked.

We merely wish to indicate, by these suggestions, that candidates for positions on the School Board should have a clear conception of the duties that are imposed upon all members of such boards by the laws of the State. They must not only be personally honest, but officially honest,—with a keen scent for all corrupt practices and a vigilant eye for all irregularities that may compromise the public interest. As has been well said, "The public school system, like Caesar's wife, must be above suspicion."

George H. C. Stoney, of Germantown, preached at the Washington Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, where union services were held.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Only 50c. at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

THE H. E. FOGUE DISTILLERY CO.

Powell Kemper Owens, aged seven years, only son and youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Powell B. Owens, died Monday at 10:30 o'clock at the family residence near Fern Leaf, after an illness of thirteen days of peritonitis. The death of this child is a sad and most grievous loss to the stricken home, and the many friends of the family sincerely sympathize with them in their sorrow. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at the home. Burial at Shannon about 1 o'clock.

The nuptials of Mr. Alexander Marshall Casey and Miss Gabriella Banks Durrett will be celebrated at high noon on October 1 at the First Presbyterian Church in Washington. Miss Marie Louise Powell, of Covington; Miss Margaret Tate, of Kansas City, and Miss Jennie Durrett, sister of the bride, will act as bridesmaids. Mr. Casey is the youngest son of the late James B. Casey, of Covington, and resides with his mother on a fine farm near Washington. The bride-to-be is one of the county's handsome and accomplished young ladies and belongs to an old and highly respected family.

DAY OF MOURNING!

THURSDAY SET APART FOR THE PEOPLE TO PAY TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

MAYOR STALLCUP'S PROCLAMATION CALLING ON THE CITIZENS OF MAYSVILLE TO UNITE IN FITTING MEMORIAL SERVICES.

PROCLAMATION!

Pursuant to the proclamation of the President of the United States designating Thursday, Sept. 19th, 1901, as a day set apart on which to hold memorial services commemorative of the cruel and untimely death of our much loved President Wm. McKinley at the hands of a lawless murderer; and in order that the law-abiding and God-fearing people of the city of Maysville may together unite in paying this final and appropriate tribute to the memory of a great and good patriot, high-minded man and Christian statesman, now, therefore, I, W. E. Stallcup, Mayor of the city of Maysville, Ky., in accordance with the above proclamation, call upon the citizens of Maysville to observe the same, and I now set apart said Thursday, the 19th day of Sept., 1901, as a day of memorial services in and for said city, and ask that all manner of business be suspended at that time and that our citizens as a whole shall meet and assemble together at a place to be designated later by notice in the daily papers and then and there unite in deploring the great calamity which has befallen us as a nation, and combine their devoutness to the High and Mighty Ruler of the universe in petitions for the safety, welfare, peace and happiness of our beloved country.

Given under my hand and the seal of the city of Maysville, Ky., this Sept. 16th, 1901.
W. E. STALLCUP, Mayor.

4:00—Adjournment.
Hymns: Nos. 478, 430, 634, 734, 755, 811, New Christian Hymn and Tune Book.

It is requested that as many as possible will bring with them the New Christian Hymn and Tune Book, having previously refreshed their memories on the familiar hymns above cited.

The Program Committee congratulates itself upon being able to secure three such speakers as I. J. Spencer of the Central Christian Church of Lexington, President of the Foreign Missionary Society; Benj. L. Smith, of Cincinnati, Secretary of the Home Missionary Society, and Burris A. Jenkins, the gifted President of Kentucky University.

Ample provision has been made for the free entertainment of all guests. It is suggested, however, that all those expecting to attend send their names to Mrs. B. W. Burdette, Germanstown.

Members of all religious denominations, and the interested public as well, will be cordially welcomed to all the sessions of the convention, and are specially invited to hear the address of President Jenkins. It is hoped that all teachers and all those who have children to educate will construe this invitation as applying directly to them.

Comfort and Health....

Demand as imperative the daily bath and nothing conduces to the enjoyment so thoroughly as a Turkish Bath Towel, the right kind, generous in proportion, unbleached, absorbent as a sponge, just rough enough to insure proper circulation. Those who know anything about the good points of a towel say we have one of the very best values. You'll say so, too. Not the price but the quality of the towel is its merit. 1½ yards long, 26 inches wide. 25c, usually 35c.

The Ribbons at 25 Cents.

Enough proof they're cheaper here than elsewhere when we've sold over 1,200 yards in two months. Plain colors, corded stripes and checks, pretty Louisiana effects, polka dots and plenty of white. No wonder they sell. People tell us the same quality sells elsewhere for 35c.

Men's Nightshirts 50c.

Full size, fine cotton, carefully made, neatly trimmed.

PITBURY POINTS.

Assassination is the thief of life.
Assassination is the coward's dagger.
Anarchy was in the ascendency when Kentucky's Chief Magistrate was stricken.
Anarchy and hate nerve the arm of the lowest brute to drive the dagger into the noblest heart.
Emma Goldman ought to be called "gold brick," as she's an all round swindler, cheat and impostor.
Taylor and that gang don't like to hear about "assassination," as that's the dose they used on Governor Goebel.
Assassination is anarchy, no matter whether perpetrated upon the President of the republic or upon the Governor of a State.
It was claimed that the Frankfort gang of ruffians were too good to have assassinated Governor Goebel, yet we see them trying to take each others' lives in their cells.
Gill's Fate used to say "boys, there'll be no more hand-cuffing." Now in view of the recent outrage upon the President, it's pretty well assured there'll be no more indiscriminate hand-shaking by any occupant of the White House.

THE BEE HIVE

TABLE LINENS.

No, No! We did not buy all the linens in the New York Market, for we only bought the cream of the best. Such a grand showing of Table Linens has never before been made in Maysville. Ireland and Scotland are the homes of Linens across the waters, but the Bee Hive is the linen headquarters of Kentucky.

UNBLEACHED TABLECLOTHS, exceptionally big values, 25c., 29c., 39c. Our 45c. and 65c. qualities are seventy-two inches wide. Red Table Cloths from 19c. to 65c.

BLEACHED TABLE DAMASK, seventy-two inches wide; a variety of beautiful patterns, 49c., 59c., 65c., 69c., 79c., 89c., $1.25, $1.49c. yard. We have a big stock of match sets.

TOWELS.

Our Towels are aristocrats—none better made. Whether you buy our 5c. Cotton Towel or our 89c. Linen Towels you will get the best values that can possibly be made for this money.

SHEET and PILLOW CASE SETS,

Made of the best muslin and hemstitched. Beautiful is too mild an adjective to describe them. $2.49 to $3.98 a set.

ALBATROSS FLANNELS.

That's the name of a new line of Flannellettes we have just received. The patterns are exceptionally pretty and the qualities are fine. They are thirty-four inches wide and we say 19c. a yard instead of 25c. We have a few Persian patterns a little narrower at 17c. a yard.

A. F. C. GINGHAMS.

We consider ourselves fortunate in being able to secure some of these Gingham. They are very scarce. 9 1/2c. a yard. They make rather pretty shirts and shirtwaists.

UNION MEMORIAL SERVICES.

People of Maysville to Unite in Tribute to President McKinley Thursday Morning at First Baptist Church.

In compliance with the proclamation of President Roosevelt and also of Mayor Stallcup, the people of Maysville are asked to meet at the First Baptist Church Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock to unite in appropriate services to the memory of the late President McKinley.

Business will be generally suspended during the service in order to give everybody an opportunity to unite in tributes to the distinguished dead. All the ministers of the city will take part in the exercises, and the choir of the various churches will join in an appropriate song service.

The Pastors' Union urges all citizens to unite in this service.

The choirs of all the churches are requested to meet in the Baptist Church Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. to prepare for the memorial service.

The Public Schools Will be Closed Thursday.

By order of the Board of Education the city schools will be closed on Thursday in respect to the memory of President McKinley.

W. B. Grant has qualified as administrator of William Lysle alias William Green, with Isaac Woodward surety.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly saved him. Hon. John D. Harris, ex-State Senator and former candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, lies critically ill at his country home, Blythewood, four miles south of Richmond.

If it is not sold privately beforehand, I will offer at public auction September 19th, at 2 p. m., the farm of the late Mrs. Eliza Long, containing 120 acres, on Strode's Run pike and L. and N. railroad near Clark's Station. For particulars address Dr. L. H. Long, agent for heirs, North Fork, Ky.

ANOTHER NARROW ESCAPE.

James Brown Struck by the Yard Engine Monday About Noon.

James Brown, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Brown, of the East End, sat down on the C. and O. track near Wornald's coal elevators Monday about noon and probably went to sleep.

Shortly afterwards the yard engine came along pushing some cars. The brake beam of the front car struck Brown, knocking him over the fill and bruising him on one elbow and thigh and about the head.

He was removed to his home where it was found that his injuries were not very serious.

The remains of General E. H. Hobson, who died at Cleveland Saturday morning, were taken to Greensburg Monday morning for interment. General Hobson was a hero of two wars. He served with distinction in the war with Mexico, and on last Thursday, two days before his death, he was elected President of the National Association of Mexican War Veterans, then in session at Cleveland. He rose to the rank of Brigadier General in the Union army, and was in command of the forces that pursued and captured General John H. Morgan on his memorable raid through Ohio July, 1864.

Further use entirely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1. Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

River News.

Bonanza down to night and Courier up for Pomeroy.

Capt. Philster's handsome steam ferry Laurance returned Monday from Cincinnati after receiving some repairs to her machinery. She resumes her trips today.

The new steamer Helen M. Gould, formerly the Spetdwell, entered the Gallipolis and Charleston trade last Saturday, while the Columbia undergoes repairs. Her cabin is one of the nicest and most roomy of any boat of the size of the Gould on the river.

The month of August was a record breaker in the volume of commerce on the waters of the Kanawha. The report compiled at the engineer's office in Point Pleasant of the traffic on the river for the month based upon reports from Lock 11, at the mouth of the river, show that the coal shipment during the month was enormous, having been nearly three times as large as that of both the corresponding month last year and the preceding month of this year. The report is as follows: Coal, 3,859,000 bushels; saw logs and lumber, 1,147,000 feet, board measure; railroad ties, 40,000; shingles, 62,000; lathes, 171,500; brick, 11,500; salt, 460 barrels. The number of steamboats passing through the lock during the month was 224, carrying 2,540 passengers and 1,960 tons of miscellaneous freight. Loaded barges passed down to the number of 292 and 193 empties passed up the river during the month.

Cincinnati Fall Festival, Sept. 16th-28th.

On account of the above occasion the C. and O. will sell round trip tickets, Maysville to Cincinnati, on Sept. 16th, 18th, 20th, 23rd, 25th and 27th at the rate of $1.75. Return limit one day after date of sale; will also sell round trip tickets on Sept. 16th to 28th inclusive, daily, at rate of $2.35; return limit September 30th. See the great floral parade September 16th.
